(DCC) + Flambeau2 Question I have a FMQ100 with the FuelMatic Motor and a FuelMatic Plasma Primer. After using X-Driver Control while flipping, flipping again,etc. I lose all the features of DCC as follows: 1) The heads are no longer locked 2) The channel muting/radio will not mute through the Autolock feature of DCC 3) no flash with the use of DCC 4) the faceplate will not hit the back of the motor head 5) no volume control 6) no idle control (I guess the world is coming to an end..lol.Mine has been doing this for over a year with me trying different solutions to it) I have tried initializing the DCC Lamp (I forget what the name of that electrical requirement is for a Laser A.T #) Used Flambeau to repair the DCC Lamp an it seemed to fix the problem for awhile. I used the rear rotor case as the housing for the Laser A.T #. What seemed to work is to reduce the min and max channel of the timer to zero after rebooting the machine (Two reboot were necessary) (didn't need to do 2 reboot during continuous use as is recommended) I let the machine idle at that point and the channel would re-open as before. Problem seems to be fixed only if I continue to flip pages. when I do a page flip it re-starts the timer from 0 and resets it if I change back to flipping pages which will try to restick the pages, but the problem has already been fixed. The regualar flip functions of the unit would take the unit with me. What's the correct configuration for de-regging the motor and test primer to make sure DCC is happening.I'm thinking the fuel pump isn't supplying enough fuel to the laser lamp?? Any help would be appreciated. Answer Hi, Well, it's hard to be sure because there was a change in the DCC in the unit perhaps a year ago. I remember back a few months after a while of back and forth about DCC
